* Photoshop Elements: This version of Photoshop is for novice users and is designed to provide fast image editing. Unlike Photoshop CS, it lacks a considerable number of features, such as the ability to align multiple layers, change the resampling quality, create clipping masks, composite images, or crop images. * Photoshop CS: For more extensive editing, this edition adds advanced features such as the ability to align layers (boxes), work with separate channels (color, or grayscale), and edit gradients. It is the perfect tool for users who want to edit pictures quickly to fix small flaws or add a special look to a photo. * Photoshop Lightroom: It is a tool for cataloging and organizing digital images on your computer. You can tag images, make light adjustments, and share images with other Lightroom users or work directly from the program's database. PIP (Photo Import Profile): The Organizer The Organizer of a Digital SLR With the introduction of the EOS 5D, Canon began promoting a set of Photo Import Profiles that allow a photographer to optimize camera settings for various types of photography. They are designed to give photographers more control over the way the camera interprets image data. The PIPs offer five settings in addition to the EOS default settings. The EOS default settings were designed to give the image the same exposure as a normal 35mm camera exposure—though you can set these parameters as low as you want. Instead, the Photo Import Profiles give you more control over the way the camera processes the image data. Here's a basic description of how the PIP works. Each profile is designed to optimize the image quality for a certain type of photography. PIPs are typically designed to use settings that are similar to those in your camera's autoexposure settings. If you take images for a living, you need to be able to see at a glance the difference between a 35mm photograph and a 5D image. The PIP makes this possible by giving you the settings you would use to achieve a great image with a normal camera exposure. Let's take a quick look at some of the PIPs available to you: * _Auto_ : The default setting; your camera will set all exposure parameters based on the Auto setting on the PIP. * _Landscape_ : Used for landscapes. The camera senses the outdoor conditions and makes adjustments to the settings used. * _Port

Pharmacological studies on H₂/5-HT-release-inhibitory activity of mebeverine hydrochloride. The H₂/5-HT-release-inhibitory activity of mebeverine hydrochloride was studied by the intracranial self-stimulation of rats. Mebeverine (1.0 mg/kg, s.c.) significantly inhibited the self-stimulation induced by stimulation of the anterior hypothalamus (AH) without affecting that induced by stimulation of the lateral hypothalamus (LH). The H₂-receptor antagonist cimetidine did not inhibit either AH or LH self-stimulation. The 5-HT-receptor antagonist metergoline did not inhibit self-stimulation induced by AH stimulation but significantly inhibited self-stimulation induced by LH stimulation. Methysergide (1.0 mg/kg, i.p.) antagonized the inhibitory effect of mebeverine on self-stimulation induced by AH stimulation. The dextro-form of mebeverine (1.0 mg/kg, i.p.) inhibited self-stimulation induced by LH stimulation, while the levo-form did not. The inhibitory effects of mebeverine on LH self-stimulation were antagonized by i.p. administration of cimetidine (10.0 mg/kg). These results suggest that the H₂/5-HT-release-inhibitory activity of mebeverine on central 5-HT systems is responsible for its inhibitory effect on LH self-stimulation. Greater Toronto Charter The Greater Toronto Charter, officially the Greater Toronto and Hamilton Plan (GT&H) or Greater Toronto Plan, was a plan for the Government of Ontario to reduce urban sprawl in the Greater Golden Horseshoe and associated surrounding areas of Toronto, Ontario, in order to create a metropolitan area as the premier urban centre in North America. It sought to decrease the spatial isolation of the suburban municipalities surrounding Toronto and provide for greater economic, social and cultural integration of the region. The first official consultation began in 1994 and was produced by a team of researchers from Ryerson University's School of Architecture. The plan received wide media attention after its release in the fall of 1997, and was revised to incorporate feedback. The final plan was published in 2000. The publication of the plan was a key step in the process of Ontario's disentanglement from the Canadian Constitution, which

The reduction potential and kinetics of an aryl group in the cytochrome P450BM-3 model compound N-(nitrobenzyl)sulfonamide (NBS). The reduction potential and kinetics of the electron and proton transfer reactions of 2-nitrobenzenesulfonyl (NBS) in cytochrome P450BM-3 have been studied to clarify the roles of the protein in these reactions. The electron-transfer potential was found to be -0.25 V and the electron transfer constant to be $5.0 \times 10(9) \text{ M}^{-1} \text{ s}^{-1}$. The potential and constant for the H₂O₂/NBS reaction were -0.48 and $3.0 \times 10(6) \text{ M}^{-1} \text{ s}^{-1}$. (1)H NMR studies showed that the nitrobenzene ring undergoes a hydride shift during the reduction of NBS. Oxidation of the p-nitrophenol, which was formed during the reduction of NBS, was also studied. It was found that the apparent second-order rate constant for the reaction was increased by the presence of a substrate. Q: What is the meaning of "credit card" in this context? Source This is a short story in which the protagonist fails to answer a phone call for his girlfriend and after finally answering he receives a card from her saying: "You didn't answer, so I called the credit card". What is the meaning of "credit card" in this context? A: A credit card is a prepaid card which may or may not be transferable; it holds the account balance and can be used to make a purchase by swiping it through a special reader at a point of sale. From Dictionary.com: credit card 1. a card that entitles its bearer to a specified amount of credit (the holder's borrowing capacity), primarily for purchase or cash advances at a merchant's or retailer's automatic machine, hence, (as adj.) involving the borrowing of money for payment. I found this definition of "credit card" here: A credit card is a plastic card, either a card having a magnetic stripe or a card having a microchip in the chip and pin card. The difference between the two is that a chip and pin card requires a PIN code to be entered along with the card number. Q
