the ones you wish to unlock. Alternatively, if you wish to restore only one account or only unlock one at a time, you may simply type it in the designated space and start the process. The program also features a keyboard shortcut for unlocking the selected entries. Moreover, AD

Unlocker Pro can prompt you on the soon to expire passwords. A designated searching function allows you to identify the users with passwords expiring in less than the specified number of days. You may easily notify your users to change their passwords before they expire, by sending them emails. The program features an email sending function, which also comes with a simple template, to let your users know their passwords are about to expire. Alternatively you may send them a reminder. The messages are only sent to the selected user accounts. The program can be set to automatically refresh the list of locked out users, so that you may view the errors in real time. Moreover, you need to specify an email SMTP server, in order to enable quick email sending. AD Unlocker Pro can also generate an audit trail, which you can view from a specialized window and select the auditing technology mode. If several auditing methods are supported, you may choose the appropriate one for your purposes.

Q: Javascript CSS3 Context Menu After much searching I thought I had found a way to create a context menu with Javascript and CSS3. Using the following code I'm able to make a context menu appear when the following anchor is clicked and it is styled with css3 without any JS frameworks. (link is a button)
