The sick Pakistani men are hospitalized in isolation after having visited the Indian city of Mumbai. They are being monitored by Pakistani health officials and the World Health Organization, according to Dr. Ejaz Ahmad Khan, the city's public health officer. "If they are found to be a potential Ebola patient, then after proper tests, they will be isolated in the hospital and under strict observation," Khan said. Health officials would not provide further details about the patients, but a spokesman for the Health Department, Zafar Ahmed, told The Associated Press that the group includes a physician, a businessman and a human resources worker. Khan said that people who showed symptoms of fever and vomiting after visiting the cities of Bhuj and Surat in India were being monitored. Two other Karachi residents also were diagnosed with a fever after they returned
