More info here: This is for he following games: Elder Scrolls Online Skyforge Vermillion Elder Scrolls: Skyrim Special Edition Fallout 4 Some links redirect to a dead link. Can anyone verify their working? Or is that mostly for real-life torrents or private trackers? Interesting. They make me think those selected games are only for people in the EU. With America being only ~16 hours ahead it would make sense that this also holds true at the stream. Unfortunately I do not want to loose a favorite game due to some of the content being carried over from EU. If we look again the it shows a map of West Midlands that is clearly England (UK), also shows some buildings i.e. the house of commons in London, which is in the central island. Play game.Q: How to feed URL to my Mailscript - VBS I have tried to run the following code Option Explicit Dim objShell Set objShell = VBCreateObject("Shell.Application") objShell.Open "abc@gmail.com?cc=" & objShell.CurrentFolder & "&body=Attn: status. Of course that's bogus because there's no way to get to the current folder. I need to get some URL from my VBA code and feed it as part of the email address. A: Alternatively, if you know the mime-type of your file, you can get at it via the (unsupported) Shell's FileSystemObject. Dim fs Set fs = CreateObject("Shell.Application.FileSystemObject") fs.CopyFile "C:\some\path\file.ext", "abc@gmail.com?cc=" & fs.GetSpecialFolder(0) & "&body=Attn: status." Q: Retaining Session Variables When Navigation To A Pages & Returning To Previous Page I currently have 5 pages in my application. I have a main page that is accessed through a navigation bar, and the user is sent to pages 1-5. Each page is a separate class in the C#.NET project and they all share a menu and common variables and properties. However, when the user gets to page 4, I want to retain the value of the querystring in page 4 and retrieve the value when they go back to page 1 and then back to page 4. Right now, my code is as follows: WebForm1.aspx protected void Button1_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { var token = HttpContext.Current.Session.SessionID; Response.Redirect(Request.Url.ToString()); } So, when the user goes to a page the first time, that value is saved to the session. When the user goes to a different page, the SessionID is no longer valid.

System Requirements For Elden Ring:

A rule of thumb: If your computer is running Windows 10 and you have access to a relatively
