Issues surrounding the Colonsay Airport are among the topics set to be discussed at the day-long meeting, which will be held at the Cairns Centre on May 23. Similar events have taken place in the past but this is the first organised by Outer Hebrideans for people to air their views on what they feel is happening on the island of Colonsay. Shona MacLean, former SNP MSP, is among those who will take part in the event. Miss MacLean said: "I am delighted to be taking part in the Colonsay Awareness Day. "I want to support the people who live and work on Colonsay. It is important to ensure we have a voice in the future of our island. "We have been sidelined for too long and it is about time we had our own forum. "I hope the meeting will be an opportunity for people to get involved. "The Colonsay Airport is being planned in a way that is going to affect the lives of people who live on Colonsay." The agenda for the event will be discussed by different people from the island, including councillors, a former MLA, the author of the Colonsay brochure, , the artist who created a portrait of the island and former tenants who are now landowners. An experienced facilitator will be brought in to ensure a good discussion is held. Among the many commitments made in the Paris climate agreement, perhaps the most important is to keep global warming to "well below" 2 degrees Celsius, and preferably 1.5 degrees, the ceiling scientists say is necessary to avoid the worst consequences of climate change. When nations gather in Poland for a United Nations climate summit in November, they'll make a big announcement: they'll decide what to do about keeping carbon dioxide levels in the atmosphere from further warming. I will be happy to report that this is a moment when Americans can be proud, and thi
