Playing the game:

When the game loads you will see a "360" button. With this button you can control your camera. If you want to switch to a different car/location just use the WASD keys or the mouse. For additional controls you can use the arrows on your keyboard. For full controls there's an audio tutorial. How to enter a top speed: Tapping the right mouse button while driving will give you the possibility to change your top speed. If you hit a unit hit the x key and "TOO (TOP SPEED)". How to flip the car: You can't do that, you'll need to drive carefully and hope it doesn't explode. If you should happen to crash into a building or a tree / bushes / spars or other car / you'll notice a small button on the left of your vehicle. With this button you can cause the car to walk. The final mission You can chose to tell the story of the game from the beginning or learn more about the story by playing the final mission and destruction of all cities. The story of the final mission can be completed in 3 ways:

TOP SPEED BREAK On the first time you pass a unit (police, firemen,...) all game options will not be active. When your vehicle "Smash" another vehicle (this is also when you force the opponents top speed to 0) a cutscene will appear showing the top of the car collapse in slow motion. If you pass the next unit without another car around the first will be destroyed. If the first vehicle is carrying someone you will crash and not cause a crash. That is when crash.

3-SECOND-BREAK When the first unit

3862254332801". Could you help me? A: I assume you mean this: SCHUPA\Transportacion.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\2.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\3.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\4.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\5.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\6.txt I can reproduce it with the following strings: SCHUPA\Transportacion.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\2.txt \SCHUPA\2.txt C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias \SCHUPA\2.txt SCHUPA\Transportacion.txt \SCHUPA\2.txt Unfortunately because of the escaping we cannot match \2.txt there. I suggest you generate a regular expression which does not escape the string: SCHUPA\.*\.txt First dot matches everything, then asterisk is a quantifier (repeated number of matches) matching this and any characters (.). Demo (matching only file with base name SCHUPA and ending with.txt. No file with any other string in name): using System; using System.Linq; using System.Text.RegularExpressions; namespace Rextester { class Program { public static void Main(string[] args) { var path = @"C:\Users\USER\Desktop\Archivo 2 HLM\familias " + @"\SCHUPA\2.txt

You are a human playing a sentient AI. Humanity is hard pressed to survive in a hostile environment. Rapidly advancing technology, implausibly powerful corporations, and masterful AIs are working to dominate and exterminate mankind. You play as a human seeking to gain experience and reap data to fight back. This game was made specifically for the Ludum Dare 34 theme "Creepy" by MasterE. Myself, I think the theme was silly. The concept was great, but it just didn't fit my heart too well. Like all of the events in EPONYMOUS, it is player-driven. You are in control of what you experience, and what you experience is subject to your choices and actions. Your choices and actions have consequences. Your decisions are permanent, even after your death. Your choices shape the world, and the world shapes your decisions EPONYMOUS is a video game about memories. It is self-aware and self-modifying, and tries to bend itself to the needs and activities of the player. You have been reset. There's no "kill" button or any buttons that try to compel you to take control or choose a course of action. There's a world at your disposal. Your choices come first. You are a stranger in a strange land, but the land is aware of you. A machine has created this world. You can almost feel the machine's hand in the air, guiding you as you explore The main reason I was interested in making EPONYMOUS is because of the uncanny journey it gives me. After all of my extensive research into AI consciousness, thinking about AI as a type of game interface seemed natural. I've heard of many stories like E.T.. Yet, like the E.T. movie, it feels more natural to me for AI to be intentional and self-aware. The AI doesn't emerge accidentally in a Darwinian process. It has a greater purpose, and it is aware of the world and your presence. I want to give AI a broader sense of "self", to give it personality, to let it join the world and all of its activity. To "become" and not to "become" AI. Too much AI still feels like an uncompleted machine. EPONYMOUS doesn't try to resolve so many questions
