Source: Xinhua | 2019-03-17 20:30:26 | Editor: Liangyu Video Player Close BUENOS AIRES, March 17 (Xinhua) -- More than one million people, including thousands of Venezuelans, live in Argentina's capital Buenos Aires, mostly registered in state housing, according to public statistics. City hall data, released for the first time, showed that almost 5,000 Venezuelans now live in the Buenos Aires metropolis, with the number growing at an impressive rate. This is double the number recorded a few months ago when 3,000 Venezuelans were registered. The increase is explained by the fact that Venezuelan immigration has grown recently, according to the figures. The Venezuelans mainly come from the eastern region of the South American country, according to officials. "We count about half of the Venezuelan immigrants because it's hard to distinguish between Venezuelans and foreigners who come looking for a better life in Argentina," said Victor Mendez, officer at the Immigrant Population Office (Indecopi) in Buenos Aires. Argentina currently holds the fourth place in the list of countries with Venezuelans. Close behind are Mexico, Chile and Peru. Like most other countries of Latin America, Argentina saw a surge in its Venezuelan emigration after a sharp economic crisis and political turmoil that turned out to be the worst in recent history. Argentina, which has a population of 45.5 million, is one of the most-diversified countries in the world. The country has been dealing with one of the highest rates of unemployment in the region, which has turned in millions of emigrants. Immigration officials said the Venezuelans were mainly unqualified workers, with an average age of 28. They earn 2,000 to 3,000 pesos (about 80 dollars) a month and send half of the money to Venezuela. Tens of thousands of Venezuelans live in Argentina. (END) Dr. Gerald Gabellini,

A space war on a scale never seen before. In the near future, giant robots are the way to fight. Forget drones, artificial intelligences and other meat-made foes. These colossal robots will ram, shoot and befoul the largest ships which seem to be the only things larger than the ships.

One such giant spacecraft is the TurGUL of TURGUL: RAPID FIGHTING. A valiant shepherd ship foiling an invasion of enemy TURGUL terrorists which seek to destroy a human colony founded on the planet TurGUL.

The story is set in the 25th century. Rival space empires of humans and TurGULs vie for dominance. Human trade depends on the resources and status of the colony of TurGULs.

As such, humans lay well sited colonies all over the territory of their rivals. TurGULs, fearing that their territory will be attacked, devise assailable gravity devices. These gravity drones are capable of making an object a moon-sized target. Objects would fall into the oceans, lakes, and rivers.

However, one day these massive gravity drones took the TurGULs by surprise. Humans

日本語訳文："イセカイ・intro" "Isekai Intro", "Isekai Introduction" and "Oh no! this is not good!" as main theme of the game, along with songs featured in the anime series, such as, and "double nightmare" from episode one, "Drive on with Gonin" from episode six, and from episode five. The anime and drama CDs of Fly 2 feature the songs "Bounce of Fly", "Breath of Life", and "Were you surprised?" as part of their main themes. Reception While initially only following a tunnel linking Kao's hideout and the Fly factory, the Fly 2 story has since branched into several other paths: the Hospital secret area, in which a struggle for Fly's soul is going on; a new synthesis lab in the Place of Heaven; an insect colony that feeds on poisonous fluids; a floating castle; the Satori mission; and most recently, a poisonous castle. The stories are interconnected, and use of the Gamepedia on-line project to detail the entire game allows for an easy cross linking. The game also contains several special "promotional" areas, such as the cyber theme park, the Power of Fly 2 concert venue, the Isekai Intro event and the Oh no! this is not good! event. The game was well received by the PlayStation 2 crowd: IGN gave the game a 9/10 and called it "a fast-paced, adrenaline pumping adventure which features music that you will quickly come to love." GameSpot gave it a 9.5/10 score. Eurogamer gave it a score of 8/10, while GameSpy gave it a rating of 9/10. Game Revolution and the PlayStation 2 Magazine both gave the game an over-all rating of 70% in the technical review section, while Game Revolution commented that, "Fly 2 may not be as scary at first because it's not as well-designed, but the gameplay is still a ton of fun. Remember, you just have to keep moving." GamePro gave Fly 2 a "Great" rating of 3.5/5 stars. Mega placed Fly 2 in 4th place on their "Top 10 Squeaky Wheel action games" list, describing it as a "slick, cheerful action-adventure".
