The appellant had a savings account in the First National Bank of Chicago. There were in it $1,250.66, of which he was the owner and entitled to withdraw. He became interested in the stock of the Marcor Railway Company, and wished to put his money in Marcor stock. He called on the bank's stock-holders' department for advice, in which there were two stock-takers who had no experience in investments of the character with which the appellant was dealing. One of them made out a certificate for the Marcor stock, and the other took an interest in it. The certificate was not left with the appellant, but was in the office of the bank, and the officers of it inquired of the appellant what his wishes were. He said, "I wish to invest the $1,250.66 in Marcor stock, and I will have to have the certificate." The bank said, "It will be no difficulty, but it may take a week or ten days." The officers of the bank did not furnish the certificate in compliance with the

-1: Yours is True Love (EXTENDED) In which a confused young man discovers the joy of exploring the secrets of all the cards in Adventurer's League modules! With just a few days left on our Cost of Living credit, I'm going to give you the latest news on the sweetest expansion of all of our sweetest expansions! But don't get too excited--this one is only literally-I hope there won't be any literal-expansion issues. Community Question: Is it possible to schedule a 3-day adventure with relocators that covers part of the Sneak Previews update as well as the weekly releases on April 7, 8, and 9? Thanks! Answer: Yes. You can do it! I'm not going to tell you all the details, but I will say this: You can do it! :) UPDATE: We changed how we run Adventurer's League this year. Please see our release notes for any important information. RELOCATORS Hang on to your seat, this next section is going to be crazy. See, before this year, characters didn't really go on adventures. That's not to say that characters didn't travel at all, or haven't stayed in towns often, but they didn't usually leave the close vicinity of where they went adventuring. Well, with the release of Module 7: High Queen Ryan's Blessing, we've changed that. In prior years, when we released a module, we'd send you a physical module that you mailed in to us. We'd then read the module, and if it made sense, we'd print, assemble, then send it back to you. To save you the cost of sending out a physical module to you all, we've had the opportunity to make people aware that they could preorder our products a month or two in advance and get them on time. This saves us a ton of expense (you know, because we want to keep the costs low for you guys!) but it also gives us time to expand and rework on the module. Another benefit to the monthly preordering is that you all should get access to a special shop that we'll open exclusively to you all. These friendly merchants let you get the latest and greatest in 30 days, for a price. When a monthly preorder came out for Princess Ryan, for example, we heard a lot of feedback that since the Princess Ryan adventure would Summoner Wars: The Mage's Crusade is an addictive strategy game set in a stunning sci-fi world. Become a Legendary Mage and lead your allies to victory! Already released some bug fixes and the new stuff is really nice but the main problem i have with this game is that i bought it and didn't pay the original price. It did take over a month for this to get released. It is still not fixed, the game still crashes for me. I don't like dealing with bug fixes. I would much rather have just gotten my money back.Q: How can I determine whether a WCF service created by sc extention tool can be accessed from browser I made a wcf service by using Visual studio 2013 sc extension tool, and hosted it with windows service.
