Kitchen Draw Pro 6.5 Free DownloadQ: Apple's native keyboard not working in xcode I've been using the native keyboard on my ipad 1st gen for a few weeks now. It has worked fine through all this time except for the last few days where it won't accept any input. The problem seems to be in the iOS, since other keyboards work fine. Anyone know of any fixes? A: Forgot to enable the software keyboard in settings. (Turn on and off for the keyboard and toggle the "Add new input source" button). The world's biggest conservation group has warned of catastrophic consequences for the Gulf of Guinea's Atlantic Ocean ecosystem if oil exploration goes ahead, after a government-commissioned study found the seabed contained the world's largest unexplored oil and gas reserves. A report by the International Energy Agency (IEA) says the seabed may have around 81bn barrels of oil - 12bn barrels more than all the known reserves found in the US. "The discovery of large reserves of oil and gas resources in the Gulf of Guinea has the potential to trigger a new wave of climate-changing emissions, accelerate deforestation, threaten the survival of iconic marine species, and undermine the livelihoods of thousands of coastal residents," said John Sauven, executive director of Greenpeace UK. "The rush to exploit oil and gas reserves in the Gulf of Guinea must be stopped." The IEA warned a further oil spill such as that of 2010's Deepwater Horizon disaster off the US coast could trigger a chain of events that would imperil the entire ecosystem. The 2010 BP spill, the biggest ever seen, released up to 252m barrels of oil into the Gulf of Mexico. The IEA said a spill could have "catastrophic consequences" and "could not be cleaned up". It said the damage would be impossible to repair and the impact on marine life could be irreversible, affecting ecosystems along the Gulf of Guinea. The report by the IEA is significant because it is the first time an international body has found an estimate of the size of the region's oil reserves. It estimated the region's estimated reserves were 11.7bn barrels. The Gulf of Guinea is known to be rich in petroleum, as well as heavy oil, light oil and gas. Most of it has been located by seismic surveys carried out by companies from around the world, including the French oil
