Captain's Tail, being a turn-based game, is "based on" Dungeons & Dragons, meaning that characters follow the rules of D&D and the captains of ships are dwarves... *Note: The tokens included in this pack are approximations and were not sculpted based on any particular character. Each token has been created individually, based on characters first seen in the series and then sculpted to ensure the details match the character. I love the fact that you can customize your tokens because I tend to make new classes with the same character a lot. I don't like putting a bunch of things on them that don't make sense. On Friday, the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation released the 911 tape of a man shooting his estranged wife and two children. The 22-minute call is tragic, heartbreaking and gut-wrenching. Those in media will no doubt choose to break the case into the parts -- the shooter is a disgruntled former Marine, he has anger issues, he's

I mean just look at that list of games! It's like a CoD show with all the different games. I love it! :DQ: How do I include a "Sign in with Google" button in my Android app? I have a simple Android app with two activities. I need to add a "Sign in with Google" button to one of the activities, but am running into some difficulty. Apparently, if I'm already using a Firebase app on my Play Store listing, I can't simply say "Yes, use my firebase account" when I hit "Sign in with Google". Instead, it throws this error: What can I do? Google's documentation is rather lacking. A: The problem is that Google Play Services App Sign-In button isn't compatible with Firebase apps yet. This is because you haven't approved Google to detect Firebase users in your app's manifest. More info in this blog post from Google. Let  $F[G]$  be its (non-degenerate) fusion ring (aka Burnside ring). Let  $\mathbb{F}$  be the scalar  $F[G]$  into itself, so that  $\mathbb{F}$  is an injective homomorphism of  $F[G]$  into itself. The niveau of  $\mathbb{F}$  is assumed to be  $|G|^{-1}$ . Let  $g \in G$ . If  $x$  is any element of  $G$ ,  $x \neq g$ , then  $s(g)s(x) = s(g \cdot x)$ . We have  $s(x)s(x) = |G| s(1)$ . How to prove that  $s(g)s(x) = s(g \cdot x)$ ? A: Everything that you write is true. But the equation you wrote is false, simply because it is false. Let  $G = \{1, g\}$  and let  $F = \mathbb{Z}[G]$ . You write that  $s(g)s(x) = |G| s(1)$ . This is false, simply because  $s(g)$  is not equal to  $|G|$  and  $s(x)$  is not equal to  $1$ . 10

Dead Rising 2 burst onto the scene in 2009 as one of the most ambitious and impressively crafted action-RPG games in recent years. The game marked a departure from the simple and short, but entertaining, first Dead Rising game and instantly established Capcom's unique and addictive brand of outrageous humor and undead survival. With the genre's biggest zombie outbreak ever and a bigger, badder, badder undead bunch of zombies, Capcom has created Dead Rising 2 with a "Workin' for the CAWPS" feel. Dirty Harry-style motorcycle cop Frank West is a smart, just a little overweight, cop with a love of fast cars, vintage rock 'n' roll, and his puppy, Butterscotch. One night, while working late on the job, Frank's motorcycle hits a drunk driver and he is dragged into the Tarry Town slums, a rundown urban sprawl that's full of corruption, crime, and of course, zombies. With the mayor long dead and zombies ravaging the city, Frank must find out the truth behind the death of his partner, a young woman named Lucy, who's suddenly missing. With the undead invasion, an infected armada of tanks, and the powerful undead cyborg, Big Daddy, Frank must leave behind his life as a cop and put down his badge and his gun before Tarry Town becomes HELL ZONE 2.5. New Features: You are Frank West, and you must save Tarry Town from the end of days...which is to say, bad guys and slow zombies. The biggest difference in this sequel is that you are now a cop. Not a cop-cop, but a regular ol' cop in a suit, which means you'll be doing lots of driving, a lot of talking to witnesses, and plenty of sticking around Tarry Town to see what happens next. The story of Dead Rising 2 revolves around the cover-your-butt minimalistic and nonlinear gameplay. Players are dropped off into Frank's nightmare in Tarry Town. Dead Rising 2 places more responsibility on the player to guide Frank's character, you, and through development, the story, like a guided tour through Tarry Town. And, with all that, the game is still action-packed. A new kind of cover system encourages players to try new ways to survive, whether that's by employing a variety of vehicles or weapons, or finding ways to hide
