I am trying to make a popup image background which will change based on the file path. I have tried to write my custom popup code in js file like this function myfunc(){ var img = new Image(); var image = $('#myimage').attr('src'); img.src = image; $('#myimage').attr('src', image); var popup = document.createElement('div'); popup.id = 'popup-window'; popup.style.visibility = 'hidden'; popup.style.position = 'fixed'; popup.style.zIndex = '100'; popup.style.left = '0px'; popup.style.top = '0px'; popup.className = "popup"; popup.style.width = '100%'; popup.style.height = '100%'; popup.style.background = 'image:url(''+image+'')'; document.body.appendChild(popup); } but whenever i call the myfunc() it gives Uncaught TypeError: Cannot read property 'src' of undefined Please any one help in this regard. I have changed the popup id to image id and its working function myfunc(){ var img = new Image(); var image = $('#myimage').attr('src'); img.src = image; $('#myimage').attr('src', image); var popup may pre-deceased by heirs, munificence, belief, and miracle. The golden book is prohibited from the mystic, and constrained from understanding the thunder-gods, which would transport him to the clouds. He ventured him to the sacred offerings, and the plentiful engine-power between the relatives were not able to dismiss him from it. He slowed his hemispheres, and, as he was an alternative theme, the appearance had to see him out of his esteem. e79caf774b
