In this game your team tries to get the pieces home to win the game. The team will try to block their opponents and get the board completely clear. You will need strategy and cooperation to successfully finish the game. In this game, teams play against each other in a race to be the first to get all their pieces home. The pieces can be coloured red (in the regular version), blue or green (if you would like to colour your pieces). Each of the teams has two partner players. Four colored pieces or marbles hang from the top of the board in four colors (red, blue, green and yellow). The players have to work in teams of two, and they must work together, by blocking their opponents and running around the game board. The pairings are random. When the board is clear, the players can pick up their pieces. The point is to be the first to use all of your pieces. If your opponent blocks you, you can still pick up the last pieces before your opponent can clear the board. You must be careful when the opponents are trying to clear your pieces. You can only block the opponent using the front two pieces of the same color. If you use the back two pieces you cannot block them. When your opponent's pieces are on the game board, they can not be picked up, and they don't block or move around. Cards are used to play the game, and each card has a variety of different effects. When a player takes the piece with one of the special cards, the card is discarded. The player then shuffles their discards pile and draws again. Features Fast paced and easy to learn - about 1-2 hours The pieces are the same across the board, and the gameboard layout is simple, yet the pieces do not move around and they do not fall off the board. The objective is to be the first to get all your pieces back to your home. A great for 2-4 people. A cooperative game. A "ludo" type game that provides a good challenge, yet it's easy to learn! In the video you see the game played, starting at 0:25. You can see how each player plays their first turn, and how they play their second turn. You can see the board, the pieces, and cards move. There is a tutorial video which you can play as soon as you launch the game c9d1549cdd

What's new in OneeChanbara ORIGIN - Exclusive Lei Costume: Lei's Work Uniform:

The landscape of Tau Ceti had been extensively mapped out by humans. Scout teams investigated every known crevice, cave, and fissure in the planet's surface. Satellite imaging, powered by rangers on the ground, was used to view the most hidden of canyons and ravines, and was even considered for use for assessing ground conditions. Additionally, planetary vehicles had been dispatched to map out the ground the Miners' craft would land on. The entire surface of the planet was scanned. The arctic terrain was fair and generally comprised of snow. The snow was of a good density to support the ground vehicles that were delivered to the planet. Cargo landers were loaded with equipment that could be used in regards to harvesting the ice. Scouts had been sent forth to aid with the transportation of supplies to the system. As their shuttle crossed over the tundra they received a transmission that was picked up by their satellite. Atmospheric conditions were beginning to change rapidly. Everyone on board was issued backpacks, and some also received thermal camouflage jackets. Digital navigators were issued to the crew, to assist in landing on the surface and to increase the efficiency of the mission. The Miners' craft had been equipped with glimmer wall sensors, so no parts of the ship would be exposed once they landed. As the shuttle crossed the planet's atmosphere, the crew could see what seemed to be the edge of an immense purple sludge. A glimmer wall popped up as the sensors on the shuttle picked up the glimmer. The crew was given some time to study the data and form a strategy for the mission. The crew secured the ground vehicles in preparation for landing. The procedures for a ground landing were reviewed in a briefing in front of the passengers. The shuttle made its descent through the sky. The sludge edged closer to the craft as it came around the planet. The shuttle made a steep turn to land on the surface. Soon the ship was hovering over the spooky orange lava that surged from a mountain range. The shuttle shuddered as it initiated its descent, its wings buzzing like a typical propeller would. As the engines began to slow, a small glowing green circle appeared on the bottom of the craft, signaling that the brakes were ready. The driver hit the brake button, and the craft pulled itself down with relative ease. The landing team was greeted with a loud hiss of steam that came from the claw treads.
