a building in Old Town Saint. George, Malta. It was built by the Knights Hospitaller, and was finished in the year 1510. The name derives from the three golden eggs that it is painted with. These represent the three fundamental elements of the Order, Law, Charity and Military. There are also three golden moons on the roof, each of which represents a different lunar month.

History The Moondragon was built between 1510 and 1511. It was constructed as a headquarters for the Captain General. This would have been the Captain General. A chapel and a prison is also found inside the Moondragon. Its façade was recently restored and repainted in 2009. The building is also protected as a Grade 1 national monument by the Malta Environment and Planning Authority.

Architecture The Moondragon is built out of local black marble. The building is situated on the highest point in St. George's and can be accessed by climbing around the side of the Moelgoch House. The tower, however, can only be accessed by climbing 170 steps. The windows on the first floor have very ornate dragon designs etched on them. References
