It now offers many features that make it easy to manipulate images and make them look almost as if you drew them yourself. Although Photoshop is powerful, you can still use many of its advanced functions by trial and error and a good deal of practice. This chapter offers a primer for using this program and should help you get started quickly. As you become more comfortable with Photoshop, you

190 S.W.3d 474 (2006) The CITY OF GREENBRIER, Appellant, v. TOWN OF GREENVILLE, Appellee. No. CA 06-559. Court of Appeals of Arkansas, Division III. December 27, 2006. *475 Anthony F. Lozano, West Memphis, for appellant. Wright, Lindsey & Jennings, by: Samuel F. Lucas and Chad E. Peters, Little Rock, for appellee. D.P. MARSHALL JR., Chief Judge. The City of Greenbrier, located within the town of Greenbrier, brings this appeal of a circuit court order granting summary judgment to the town. We reverse. The town owns a parcel of land within the city. The city's zoning ordinance allows lot lines to be measured along a county road, not along the center of the road, so the city could not subdivide the property into smaller lots. The town gave the land to the Sowell Foundation to provide access for handicapped individuals. The town mailed the foundation a letter, indicating that the land was being granted as a public trust, that the grantees could not convey the land to anyone else, and that if the foundation changed its mind, the town would take it back. Although the land was clearly dedicated to the town, and not to the Sowell Foundation, the town told the foundation to put the land on the tax rolls and it would pay the taxes. In the absence of any evidence of a statutory waiver of sovereign immunity, the district court held that the town and the Sowell Foundation were alter egos of each other, so the town was liable for any judgment that might be awarded against the foundation. It added that, even if the town and the foundation were separate entities, it was liable for any judgment against the foundation because it had waived its immunity by granting the land to the foundation. On appeal, the city does not challenge the district court's holding regarding the alter-ego issue, but it does challenge the conclusion that the town had waived its immunity. Although ordinarily a suit against a city is barred by Ark. Const. amend. 80, there are exceptions. One of these exceptions is the waiver of sovereign immunity, which allows the municipality to be sued. Ark. Const. amend. 80, § 20. And a municipality can act through its municipal officials, see Ark. Const. amend. 60; Ark.Code
