Having met that mark, it’s now time to unveil what we have been working on,” said Thomas Dye, CEO of Nexon USA. “Vindictus is a game where character growth is a cornerstone. We’re so excited to take the first steps on this journey by bringing our players the first chapter, out of three in this epic adventure.” The key elements that make the Vindictus experience fun are the freedom and flexibility you will have to carve out your own path in a massive world, and the variety and quality of your equipment to take down any foe. With more content than you can shake a stick at, how you approach the game will be a very important factor in the way you play. There will be lots of action-packed RPG elements throughout the game. It’s more than just a brawler. The Vindictus combat system is based on realtime action, meaning your movements and actions in-game will carry over to the battlefield. You have an action bar with different attack moves such as melee, magic, ranged and combo moves, so you can apply them quickly and effectively. (1988 film) Not the Incredible Hulk, Namtron for short, was a 1988 Filipino superhero movie based on Namor, the Sub-Mariner. Aspects of the film resemble Son of Godzilla (1956), in which a Japanese scientist was resurrected as the creature Godzilla. Plot It is sometime after World War II during the Global nuclear conflict. American and Japanese forces are fighting out on the globe until Blue water areas were caught in the crossfire. From there a government of the area took over the country, however, the common man was in complete poverty and constant hunger. Rumors of the Sub-Mariner swam through the water amongst them, killing many. However the death toll of people who were under the sea who saw him as a living God with a sense of goodness began to die slowly from hunger and starvation. More and more people began to worship Namor as the Sub-Mariner with more deaths of common people. Unfortunately, he was killed by a gun shot and his body was found by two local fishermen. Without Namor, the people began to perform sailor ship funerals with full honours of a king. The American forces invaded the nation but a missile ship stopped the missile to hit the ship with a huge explosion and destroyed the whole building. From that day, a mysterious voice appeared in the ocean saying "The rumors are true, the Legendary Sub-Mariner is alive and it is then that all of a sudden there was a huge explosion that seemed to be very close to the base and submarines of the first American warship but nobody could actually see their destination after that fateful night, after that explosion was too dark. However, everytime there was problem amongst the war forces, Namor makes his appearance to save the day to protect the commoners, only he was stopped by those who worship him as a God to the point of worshipping a false God. Slowly, Namor is forced to retreat further and further to the deep sea to save his people. Unbeknownst to the people, Namor was first captured by an American scientist. His first attempted to revive the legendary classic elephant man, but Namor was "killed" again by murder of ripping off the skin of the scientist's brother. After this happened, the scientist killed himself with no intention of resurrecting him. Eventually, Namor is carried by the slop line of a ship that brings essentials to the people of the area; however the lack of loyalty in the first captain
