What's new:

Preview By Bobby Owsinski, Aug 20th 2019 The Village, the new game being developed by Endless Ocean studio Ferndale Interactive, is now up on Steam Greenlight. To get an early look at the new soundtrack, we've listened to it and let you know where you can hear it before the game launches. This is now available for free and you can download it here. Since there is so much to say about this game, I'll be giving some insight into each song, its composers and then referring you to another blog post on the game itself where I will provide more details about the story and the gameplay. If you just want to hear the soundtrack as one large chunk of music, I've provided a playlist below. All the tracks are in chronological order. Arcademon - Haunting For A Soul (Blade of Sorcery theme) - Watching The Start Of Everyday From Another Place (The Myth Maker theme) - Flashbacks From Home (Utgard VR dreamscape) - The Return Of The Dark Angel (The Wyvernhunter) - By The Numbers (The Night Makers) - The First Of The Three (The Maelstrom Skies) The Villagers Of The Dawn - Time In The Mine (Rainforest) The Village - War And Ruin (The End Of Days) The Villagers Of The Dawn - A New Beginning (Heir Trueheart's Vision) The Villagers Of The Dawn - Up For Grabs (The Hero Of Risebottom) The Villagers Of The Dawn - Beyond Time, Beyond Grey (A World In The Crystal Depths) The Audio Director of the project is Travis Lutter. As can be heard on the track list, he brings a massive soundscape across all the songs. His ear for giving meaning to music and then directing others to bring it to life is something in which I feel I can relate to. His song choices are great. The first song is quite ominous and would be extremely appropriate as a theme to a horror video game. The Endless Ocean logo can be heard at the very start of the track just over the first 10 seconds. The second piece, based on The Myth Maker, is an audio introduction that gives a glimpse to game mechanics. The third track gives a sense of the player's first experience in a village. The fourth track, based on The Wyvernhunter, is a perfect way to enter a game. With a proper game soundtrack, it sets the feeling of getting ready
