"We are one step closer to justice. May God have mercy on their souls. May they rest in peace," wrote Angel Amaya, the mother of Elizabeth Haysom, in a statement posted on Facebook. "The [Trump] administration must provide asylum to my daughter's murderers to ensure that no other family ever has to go through this hell again." Haysom and her younger sister, Hannah, were killed last week when one of their bus monitors, Vianey Ramirez, allegedly stabbed the girls during a bathroom break on the bus. Ramirez, 18, allegedly told a classmate that she needed a "week off" from the Jose Juarez Memorial Academy in the town of Irving, where he had been employed as a bus monitor, according to NBC affiliate WTHR. He was arrested on a preliminary charge of murder on Wednesday, and authorities have not disclosed a motive. The attacker was reportedly convicted in December 2017 of two counts of class A misdemeanor child solicitation. "
