Welcome to your cat game!

And for the first time ever let's play this game!

Dog

Professor Watts Memory Match

Off-Leash Behavior:

Dog's Off-Leash Behavior pattern is Sweet. This Dog is easy-going and comfortable around other animals. Off-leash, Dog doesn't tend to eat things lying around the yard. A quiet, laid-back package, Dog is submissive around other dogs and family pets. This behavior pattern accounts for sweet, friendly, and affectionate personalities in dogs. More adventurous, less fearful, high-energy dogs may have problem behavior patterns around strangers.

Cat

Professor Watts Memory Match

Alley Cat:

Cat's Alley-Cat is an Adventure! Confidence and Physical Awareness pattern. Alley-Cat loves to be up high, hidden, and alone with far-away views. Exploring is a must, and she will hide in entrances and crawl spaces to satisfy her thirst for adventure. As part of the Hiding behavior pattern, alley-cat is curious and enjoys testing its endurance by exploring the entire house while we're asleep. She may even try sleeping in another room, which would be nearly impossible for the human family to achieve. Alley-cat should never be allowed to chase a ball when time is a factor because these games can have serious repercussions for her. Alley-cat would love some R & R (rest and relaxation) at the end of the day with her close family if they permit her to remain with them all night.
