This invention relates to an adhesive composition and a decalcomania having a transparent support and a die-cut vinyl-type decal sheet printed thereon. More specifically, this invention relates to an adhesive composition useful for adhesively applying a vinyl-type decal to a support surface and a decalcomania product having a transparent support and a die-cut vinyl-type decal printed on the support with the vinyl-type decal having at least one decorative surface which is moistenable. Decalcomanias have been provided for decorating a support surface by printing a transparent support surface with decorative graphic images. Typically, a plastic decal having a cut out portion is adhesively applied to a support surface. A plastic decal also is available with a vinyl-type film laminated to the support surface. Representative of the type of adhesive used for adhesively applying a vinyl-type decal to a support surface are the vinyl-based adhesives sold by Avery Dennison Corporation under the trade designation-VD 69, VD 69A and VD 69100. Other representative vinyl-type adhesives used for adhesively applying a vinyl-type decal to a support surface are vinyl-type adhesives sold by Seal-It Incorporated, under the trade designation VINYLON S (vinyl-type adhesive sold by DuPont), V-5.RTM.S (vinyl-type adhesive sold by Eastman Chemical Company) and H-100.RTM. (vinyl-type adhesive sold by Henkel Corp.). Vinyl-type adhesives typically used in the art are not ideal for use in producing a decalcomania because they are not entirely transparent and may discolor in prolonged exposure to light and other visible light, or alternatively they may fade or yellow in prolonged exposure to certain ultraviolet rays. Furthermore, vinyl-type adhesives which are to be used in adhesively applying a vinyl-type decal to a support surface are typically applied to a release sheet. U.S. Pat. No. 4,490,427 discloses a pressure sensitive adhesive label and decal which is the product of a hot melt extrusion operation carried out by first extruding a pressure sensitive adhesive and a binder material, second extruding a clear film-forming resin over the adhesive, and finally extruding a decorative layer over the clear film-forming resin layer. However, such a hot melt extrusion process is
