Glorious roguelike! It's so complex, and the game just keeps on providing challenge and fun. You have the option to play in first or third-person perspectives, and each choice has its own drawbacks or advantages. One of the greatest strengths of the game is the way it creates expectations that are fulfilled in the most clever way. Rare is the game that doesn't disappoint. Tyler Wildelt's a unique game that can be hard to explain; you'll just need to try it and see for yourself. Larry "Nomadic" Baker - Way of the Pixel Game "Vault of the Void" Gameplay: Let's start with how rare a gem Vault of the Void is. I know of only about a half a dozen people I would consider to be pretty die-hard roguelike fans and yet this is the only game you'll ever have to say to me "I really want to play something like this, but I just can't wrap my head around it". There's a huge shift from strategy to truly roguelike when it comes to combat. You can't really set up your next position because the danger of an immediate and unmitigated spawn is so high. You can't plan your next move because you are constantly on the move. The whole world is fair game and death is sudden and unforgiving. This is a game you'll want to immerse yourself in, but in the end a significant amount of your time will be spent trying to figure out how to beat the game. However, once you start getting the hang of it you'll find yourself marveling at the hidden depths you've uncovered. I highly recommend it. Tyler Wilde As far as roguelikes go, this is one of the best games I've ever played. There is no 'one play' to it. Just when you think you know where it is, there's a new set of trials to push you beyond your limits. You can always come back to a saved game, but once you start playing the game for fun, you'll find a very rewarding experience. Definitely one to add to your collection. Jerry "Tycho" Holkins - Penny Arcade Game "Marble Pop" Gameplay: Starts out fairly simple, but there's enough depth to keep things interesting. A few new mechanics this year that add a nice touch to this game. Showing that you're feeling them out a bit is part of the fun, but if you get frustrated you can always take your time and

Free Rubies Get your Starter Pack Traditionally we offered our starter packs for free in the hope that it would encourage you to use our services. We have since discontinued this offer as it was an invitation to ask us for money which we feel is dishonest. However we have now decided to continue offering our Starter Pack for free, which will contain 10 free rubies and can be purchased from the 'Shop' and should be more than sufficient for you to make a start. Of course if you require more rubies then you can purchase them from the 'Shop' and all sales are final. Note that we advise that you add them to your collection using our 'collect' command before selling them. We apologise to those customers who were previously offered our starter packs for free. We continue to apologise for any inconvenience caused by this change. Transfers and backing accounts are only required if you wish to transfer rubies from your account to your Backing account. This is a useful feature as you can use your Backing account as an e-wallet to sell your rubies. Anchor account Please note that the Anchor account is a payment platform but is a separate service to backing accounts. Here we offer more flexibility by allowing you to gift rubies between one another, hold the rubies in escrow until the owner agrees to release them, purchase rubies as required and back rubies with other currencies. To create a new Anchor account just login and select the 'Anchor account' icon in the top right hand corner of your account. The Anchor account is backed entirely by funds held in one other Stripe account, meaning that it is the same as a standard Stripe account with the difference that funds are automatically escrowed rather than in Redis. This means that you retain complete control of your funds and funds cannot be sent out from your Anchor account without your approval. You remain responsible for the risk for your funds. You may find some pages on this site to be hard to read due to the Anchor account design. We make the backend available to developers and will soon be making sure that the front end is optimised for everyone but in the mean time don't worry too much if the content looks less than polished to you. Backup We offer our backing accounts to allow you to use your Rubies as credit/debit cards and "lend"

VR Mind Massage is a brainwave synchronization, hypnosis, and mindfulness app for virtual reality headsets like Google Cardboard or Oculus Rift. Enjoy the benefits of being in virtual reality for a simpler, less busy, and more enjoyable experience. As research shows that your mind works best with your own personal brainwave frequency, this technology lets you experience the ultimate in personalized hypnosis and meditation programs. The brainwave frequency found in this app is the same found with third-generation Binaural beats. Use them alone or with the other apps to begin to experience the benefits of Binaural beats. Medical research has repeatedly proven the effectiveness of Binaural beats. Due to this effectiveness, they have been prescribed to help people with ailments such as insomnia, addiction, Alzheimer's, ADD, ADHD, and to change moods. Accelerometer To apply the brainwave frequency found in this app to the accelerometer in your phone, simply find the accelerometer app, and set your phone to the same frequency the app finds. You can do this on all phones, with the same effect. Available for all devices Available for the following operating systems and devices: Android, iOS, macOS, Windows In addition, the following devices are supported by VR Mind Massage: Oculus Rift, Google cardboard, mobile phone (iPhone, Samsung, HTC), and more. Although VR Mind Massage is best experienced in the Oculus Rift, it supports virtual reality headset systems on PC, iOS, and Android devices. The Gear VR, Google Cardboard, and Samsung Gear VR are virtual reality headsets with virtual reality content. Headsets NOTE: 4GB minimum requirement supported in regular virtual reality headsets or mobile headsets only.
