Just because these klutzes like Robin Thicke, Paula Patton and other celebrities flaunt their “jewels”, while in fact they are nothing but tiny diamonds on a chain, does not mean that real diamonds are not beautiful. Advertisements When I first encountered the brand I was a bit shocked. Just because these klutzes like Robin Thicke, Paula Patton and other celebrities flaunt their “jewels”, while in fact they are nothing but tiny diamonds on a chain, does not mean that real diamonds are not beautiful. Have you ever wondered what kind of an eye can detect something that has no color or brightness? Did you ever wonder if you can see anything if you wear dark glasses or regular ones? In this post we will see what happens when you see the diamond with your bare eyes. The pictures and videos below show the various stages of illumination of the diamond. When you can see the sparkle of a diamond with your eyes, when you can see the image of a diamond, or you can detect the position of the light, the perfect, perfect diamond. To what extent do you know about the diamond? From what do the diamonds get their light? Advertisements The story of the diamond In the world of gemstones, diamonds are extremely interesting because they are considered the most precious. They are often associated with royalty and royalty has always cared about these beautiful stones. Diamonds were first found in Brazil. Back then they were not mined but rather found in the pebbles that were floating on the ocean. The reason for the name diamond is associated with the name DeBeers. In the 19th century DeBeers developed the idea of branding and propaganda. The founder of the company, Marcus Samuel de Haas, made sure that diamonds were associated with the glories of the company. The campaign included many methods of mass media advertising, such as posters, films, etc.
