If that were the case, then no one would eat a processed food or watch a TV show about anyone doing that. What I am going to tell you is that you can give your body the love and support it needs. Eating a healthy diet and working out will help you maintain that body, but it's also important to love yourself on a regular basis. Just like you would with your most loved ones, let's work together to be kind to ourselves.

1. Eat healthy food that nourishes When you feel that hunger pang, it's easy to reach for food that's easy to eat, not a piece of fruit or a slice of whole grain bread. Don't do it. Instead, go for a handful of nuts, drink an apple juice, or reach for a leafy green salad. If you eat healthy, you'll feel better, look better and have a body that's in better shape.
2. Take care of your skin When was the last time you got a pedicure, manicure, or facial? How about a new pillow? Did you do your hair recently? Start doing the things that make your body and skin look their best. It's pretty simple. If your hair is dirty, get it cleaned or just get a new do. Take care of your skin and your body will thank you.
3. Don't wear the wrong clothes Going to the mall to buy
